

I am apalled that the people who are attacking the do not call lists in NJ are even being heard.....I am a Registerd Nurse and live presently with my elderly walking disabled parents with major health problems....My mother runs for the phone asnd has fallen three previous times nly to find out that it was telemrketers. Not to mention the amount of itmes it has inconveienced sickly people who live alone and possibly caused heart attacks as alot of seniors who signed up for do not call, are still burdened with threats, fraud and identity theft as well as the inconvenience or frail mediclaly compormised individuals to fight it. It is completely pathetic that our rights are violated over the rights of people who make a living out of annoying others.
